

EF History

“Historians are the most powerful and dangerous members of any society. They must be watched carefully... They can spoil everything.” -Nikita Khrushchev

*“You have to know the past to understand the present!”
-Carl Sagan*

*“Study the PAST if you would define the FUTURE!”
-Confucius*

Why should I choose this subject?

- History fascinates and inspires me, and I would like to go beyond the learning in the mainstream course curriculum.
- I would like to explore historical topics in more depth, together with like-minded classmates who are enthusiastic about history, international relations, and global issues.
- I want to improve my English written and oral communication skills in a ‘low risk’ setting.

Transferable Skills and Competencies

Critical Thinking Skills

understanding cause & consequence, comparing & contrasting, assessing continuity & change

Communication Skills

evidence-based argumentation, clear and precise writing, polished and persuasive speaking

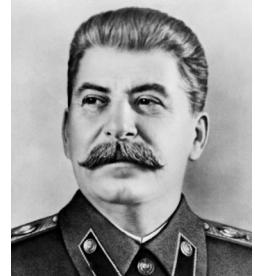

Past topics and issues have included...

Transferable Skills and Competencies

- How to write an academic paper in History.
- Source interpretation
- Critical Thinking skills.
- Learning to formulate arguments.
- English language acquisition.

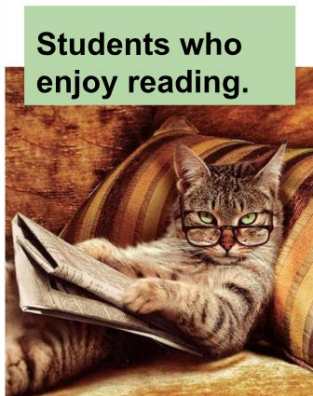

Who Should study History?

Students who enjoy a challenge

Students who enjoy critical thinking.

Students who enjoy reading.

Students passionate about the past